

DEVELOPMENT
EXPERIENCE
AND EMERGING CHALLENGES

BANGLADESH

editors

Quazi Shahabuddin

Rushidan Islam Rahman

Bangladesh Institute of Development Studies

The University Press Limited

Contents

List of Tables, Annex Tables, Figures and Box	xi
Acronyms	xv
Acknowledgements	xix
Contributors	xxi
Editors' Introduction	xxiii
Quazi Shahabuddin and Rushidan Islam Rahman

Part I

Institutions, Governance and Sustainable Development

CHAPTER 1
Institutions for Policymaking for Development	3
Nurul Islam
1.1 A National Economic Coordination Ministry	4
1.2 A National Statistical Organisation	11
1.3 A Central Bank	14
1.4 Public Participation in Policymaking—Role of Think-Tanks and Research Institutions	16

Part II

Development Strategies for Bangladesh

CHAPTER 2
Reflections on Bangladesh in Comparison to East Asia	27
Gustav Ranis

CHAPTER 3
Bangladesh: The Test Case for Development Revisited	33
Just Faaland and J.R. Parkinson
CHAPTER 4
Is Bangladesh Poised to be Launched on an East-Asian Development Path?	41
Azizur Rahman Khan
4.1 Introduction	41
4.2 Growth and Structural Change	42
4.3 Savings and Investment	48
4.4 Export-led Development	54
4.5 Inequality and Poverty	56
4.6 Demographic Transition	61
4.7 An Explanation of the Difference in Performance	62
4.8 A Concluding Comment	72
CHAPTER 5
What Kind of Economic Growth is Bangladesh Attaining?	77
Rizwanul Islam
5.1 Introduction	77
5.2 Economic Growth, Structural Change and Macroeconomic Performance	78
5.3 Economic Growth and Poverty Reduction	85
5.4 Economic Growth and Income Distribution	89
5.5 How Employment-Friendly has Economic Growth Been in Bangladesh?	92
5.6 Summing Up and Looking Ahead	97

Part III

Challenges of Inequality and Poverty

CHAPTER 6
The Meaning of Poverty: Questions of Distribution and Power	105
Arthur MacEwan
6.1 Introduction	105
6.2 Poverty as a Multidimensional Concept	107
6.3 Poverty as a Relative Concept	113

6.4	Poverty as Distribution: The Practical Issue	119
6.5	Conclusion	134

CHAPTER 7

Challenging the Injustice of Poverty: The Need for Structural Change in South Asia	141
--	-----

Rehman Sobhan

7.1	The Argument	141
7.2	Changing Approaches to Poverty	142
7.3	The Structural Dimensions of Agency	143
7.4	From Agent to Principal	144
7.5	Democratising Democracy	146
7.6	Structural Change for South Asia	146

CHAPTER 8

Inequality in Access to Education and Its Impact on the Labour Market: A Vicious Cycle	149
--	-----

Rushidan Islam Rahman

8.1	Introduction	149
8.2	Access to Education: Impact of Household Income	153
8.3	SSC and HSC: Difference among Income Groups	155
8.4	Multiple Regression Results: Factors Affecting School Enrolment and Secondary Completion	157
8.5	Rural-urban and Regional Difference	160
8.6	Impact of Education on Labour Market	161
8.7	Income Inequality at the Top and Its Impact	169
8.8	Summary of Findings: The Nature of the Vicious Cycle	171
8.9	Policy Suggestions	173

Part IV

Macroeconomic and Sectoral Issues

CHAPTER 9

Fiscal Deficits and Economic Growth: Contrasting Bangladesh with the Rest of South Asia	179
---	-----

Siddiqur Rahman Osmani

9.1	Introduction	179
-----	--------------	-----

9.2	Public Investment and Growth	180
9.3	Fiscal Deficits, Interest Burden and Public Investment	184
9.4	Conclusion	197
CHAPTER 10
Aid Effectiveness in Bangladesh		201
M.G. Quibria and Shafti Ahmad
10.1	Introduction	201
10.2	The Arithmetic of Aid Flows	203
10.3	Economic and Social Impact of Aid	210
10.4	Aid Effectiveness Issues	217
10.5	Recommendations and Concluding Remarks	227
CHAPTER 11
Rhetoric Versus Reality in Bangladesh's Trade Policy		233
Shantayanan Devarajan and Zaidi Sattar
11.1	Introduction	233
11.2	The Evolution of Trade Policy in Bangladesh	234
11.3	The Current Debate on Trade Reform in Bangladesh	248
11.4	Bridging the Gap between Evidence and Rhetoric	252
11.5	Concluding Remarks	255
CHAPTER 12
Research-Policy Links: An Analysis of Institutional Issues in Macroeconomic Policymaking in Bangladesh		259
Mustafa K. Mujeri
12.1	Introduction	259
12.2	Macroeconomic Performance and Poverty in Bangladesh	261
12.3	Role of Research in Policymaking	271
12.4	Policymaking Using Research Findings	278
12.5	Concluding Observations	284
CHAPTER 13
Progress in Rural Economy in Bangladesh: Insights from Repeat Sample Surveys		291
Mahabub Hossain and Abdul Bayes
13.1	Introduction	291

13.2 Data and Survey Methodology	292
13.3 Development of Human Resources	294
13.4 Changes in Agrarian Structure and Productive Forces	295
13.5 Structure, Distribution, and Determinants of Incomes	302
13.6 Conclusions	307

Part V

Looking Ahead: Policy Options for Bangladesh

Panel Discussion	313
------------------	-----

Index	349
--------------	-----